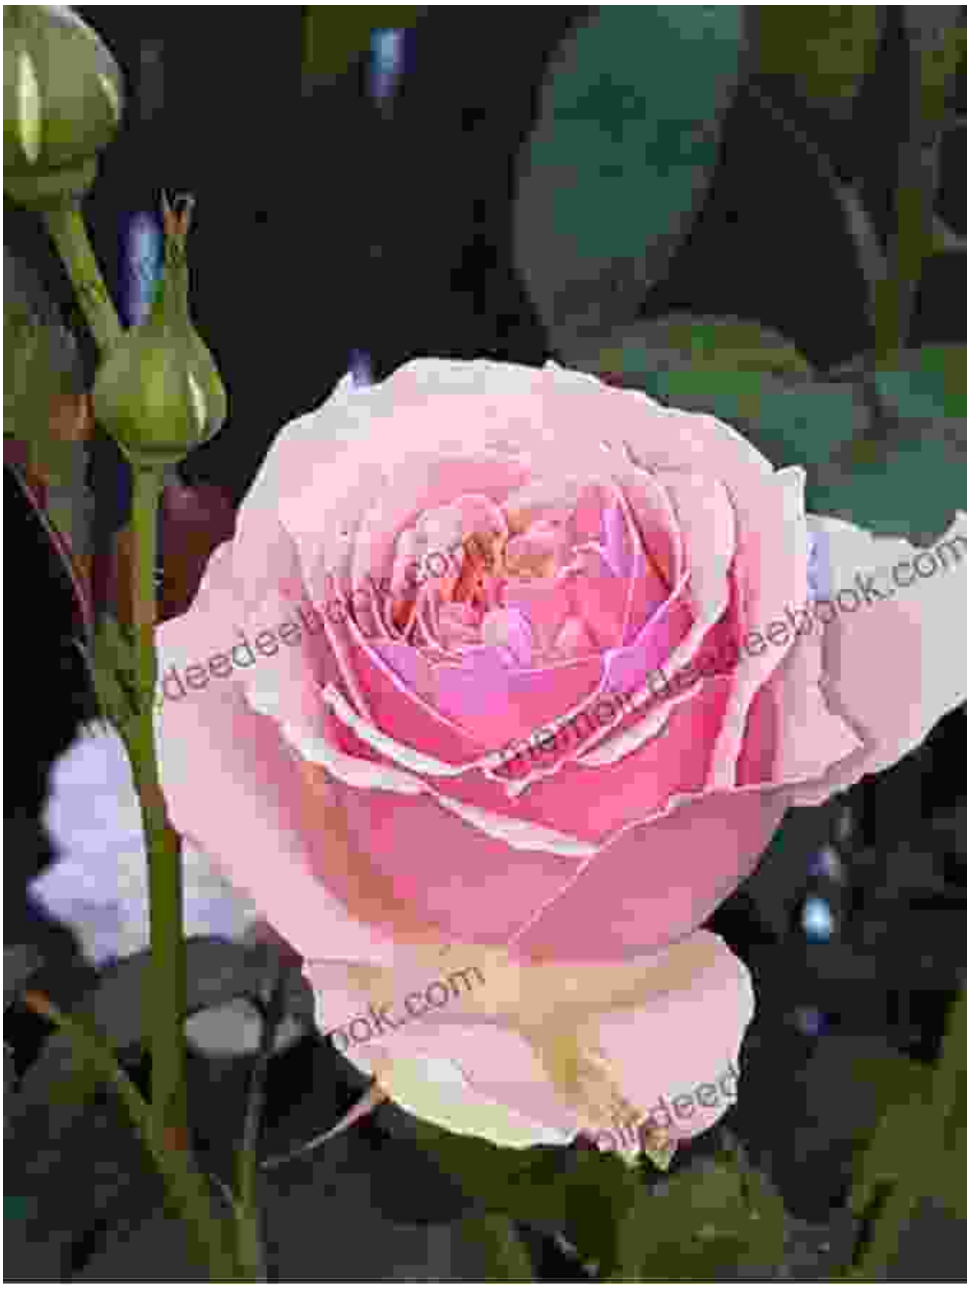
: Unveiling the Enchanting Buttercup Lovely Day



The Buttercup Lovely Day Carolyn Beck rose, a hybrid tea rose, owes its existence to the creative genius of Dr. Keith Zary, a renowned rose breeder. In 1990, Dr. Zary meticulously crossed two exceptional rose varieties, the 'April Dawn' and 'Sweet Surrender' roses, giving birth to this horticultural gem. The result was a rose that captivated the world with its ethereal beauty and exceptional qualities, earning it the prestigious All-America Rose Selections (AARS) award in 1993.

Deciphering the Enchanting Characteristics of Buttercup Lovely Day

- Blooms: Buttercup Lovely Day Carolyn Beck mesmerizes with its large, fully double blooms that adorn the plant with an abundance of grace. Each bloom, ranging from 4 to 5 inches in diameter, unfolds in a captivating blend of soft yellow hues, exuding a delicate and alluring fragrance that permeates the air.
- Petals: The petals of this captivating rose are a true work of art, boasting a velvety texture and a distinctive ruffled edge. Their intricate arrangement forms a mesmerizing rosette that radiates elegance and charm.
- Foliage: The Buttercup Lovely Day rose is adorned with rich, glossy foliage that provides a striking contrast to its vibrant blooms. The deep green leaves, with their serrated edges, complement the rose's overall aesthetic, creating a harmonious and visually appealing plant.
- Growth Habit: This vigorous rose exhibits an upright and bushy growth habit, reaching a height of approximately 3 to 5 feet. Its sturdy stems provide ample support for its abundant blooms, ensuring a captivating display throughout the growing season.

Cultivating Success: A Guide to Growing Buttercup Lovely Day Carolyn Beck

1. Site Selection: Choose a planting site that receives ample sunlight, ideally a minimum of 6 hours per day. The soil should be well-drained, fertile, and slightly acidic, with a pH level ranging from 6.0 to 6.5.

2. Planting: Dig a hole twice the width of the root ball and just as deep. Place the rose bush in the hole and backfill with soil, ensuring that the bud union (the point where the rootstock and scion are grafted together) is slightly above the soil level.
3. Watering: Water your Buttercup Lovely Day rose deeply and regularly, especially during the hot summer months. Allow the soil to dry slightly between waterings to prevent root rot.
4. Fertilizing: Fertilize your rose bushes every 4 to 6 weeks during the growing season with a balanced rose fertilizer. Avoid fertilizing in late summer or fall, as this can encourage new growth that may be damaged by frost.
5. Pruning: Prune your Buttercup Lovely Day roses in late winter or early spring. Remove any dead, diseased, or weak canes. Prune the remaining canes back by one-third to one-half their length to encourage vigorous new growth and abundant blooms.
